

In the code provided, the function `getName` is assigned directly to `module.exports`, so when you import it into `app.js`, `getName` refers to the function itself, not an object containing the function. So, the direct function call `'getName()'` works here.